

red area is where the bag will be stitched round the sides and top for where the pull string go's through blue area is where bag would be folded in half

This is what the layout of the bag would look like before final design drawing everything is layed out in the proper way.

the colour of the bag would be a light blue colour that would stand out noticeably instead of a dark colour that might put people off.