

Annotated Medal

The way I came to the shape of the medal is, I looked on then internet and look at old medal and they are all circular so I keep with the same theme but I added a diamond on top of the circle so it would be different than other medals that are circular.

I added my logo because it was in my project brief and it looks good and I really like it. I added the gold on the side because it tells you that it's the gold medal and I think it looks affective with the writing on.

I created the image on the back of the medal in paint and then pasted it into PhotoDraw and finished it in there. I created my medal in Microsoft Visio so I could get the right size medal.

It was hard to get the colour of gold but I get it and it looks like gold but the back isn't the same colour gold but it looks similar but I like it like this because its different to other medal that have been designed before.

This medal is for the winner of the 3k fun run and I think it works really well with the theme of the fun run because the logo on the front is of a runner, and the back goes as well because the university has a good sport fertility. So that's the reason behind the Medal.

The backside of the medal is an image of the University. I choose this image because it reflects the area that I live in. It does look good. I also added "Association with 2012" this is because it is related with the Olympics, and I added 2006 on as well because that is the year the run is taking place
